

SCARFS

1. To knit a wide scarf you should use all the needles in the cylinder and all the needles in the ribber dial. In order to do this it will be necessary to bend the cylinder pin slightly to the right or left so the dial needles will come between the cylinder needles. You can bend the pin with a pair of pliers. Select a yarn of the correct size for the cylinder you use. The 72 or 80 cylinders are best for making scarfs.
2. With all the needles in the cylinder set the knitting up, drawing the set-up hooks close to the needles or so the set-up hooks will be about  $\frac{1}{4}$  of an inch from the top of the cylinder.
3. Knit 10 rounds of plain knitting with a medium tension, then place the ribber on the machine and insert all of the ribber needles. Be certain that the ribber needles come between the cylinder needles.
4. Loosen the tension from one to two turns of cam nut to knit with a very loose tension and knit approximately 250 rounds which will give you a scarf about 4 feet long.
5. Remove the ribber needles from the dial allowing the stitches to drop. Remove the ribber from the machine. When all of the ribber needles have been removed, tighten the tension as much as you loosened it in Para. 4, and knit 10 rounds of plain knitting.
6. Break the yarn about 3 feet from the carrier and pull it through the carrier holes. Thread the end of this yarn through the needle and run it through each loop while still on the cylinder needle. Then turn the crank and run the knitting off the machine.
7. You will notice that the ribber needle stitches have unreveled part way down the knitting. By pulling the knitting from each end these stitches can be unreveled the full length of the scarf. It is by unrevealing these stitches that the scarf is made wider.
8. The ends can be finished off by looping the yarn of the same or different color through the end of the knitting to form a fringe. Press the scarf out as wide as possible.
9. Rings of different colored yarn may be knit in each end if desired. To make the rings, knit about 35 rounds of the scarf, before tying on the different color of yarn. Then, when you have knit about 205 rounds make another ring. The rings should be about 10 rounds of knitting in width.
